It is said at the Interior Department that the examining board had been abolished because it was found to be impracticable. It is said that week, but there was some fine racing. With the rest that has come since the old favorites in the examinations for promotions a man who was just out of college and had only been in are in fine condition and everything was just out or college and had only been in the department a month could pass and go to the top of the list over the head of a clerk who had been in the service for years, although the new man might have to be taught his duties for the next six months. than any one desired and the attendance included the entire population of the city. In fact it was compulsory upon all except a few who would have been present if they had not left the city. The track was in excellent shape, and as there had been no rain it was not at all holding. Considering the fact that it was the opening day the time that was made was very fast. Prof. Harrington, the official timekeeper, announced that the Sunstroke handicap was made by Thermometer in 94.6°. The best previous time was made at the June meeting, when Old Sol covered the same distance in 95.1°. THE PUTURE METHOD. Hereafter promotions in the Interior Depart ment will be made upon the recommendation of the heads of bureaus, whose action will be based largely upon the indorsements of division chiefs and those in immediate authority over the clerks. It is stated positively that the efficiency record will be maintained strictly and that it will determine the action of division and that it will determine the action of distribution. chiefs in recommending clerks for promotion. In other words, the initial move for a promotion the clerk's immediate vious time was made at the June meeting, when Old Sol covered the same distance in 95.1°. The officials of the meeting are to be congratulated upon their excellent management. Last month Mr. Garrott dropped the flag. He did exceedingly well, and on the quiet gave some of his friends tips that did not go astray. It is intimated that Maj. Dunwoody became a little jealous of his success, but be that as it may the vice president is this month holding the flag himself. He got the entries off at an early hour, and sent them away well together. Secretary Morton again officiated as judge in a satisfactory manner, though he gave a rather close decision between Thermometer and Redhot in the handicap. tion must come from the clerk's immediate superior officer, but the Secretary's latitude in making the promotion or not will be bounded only, if bounded at all, by the efficiency record and the indorsements of his subordinate offi-

All the interest centered in the Sunstroke handicap. The excitement was intense. It is understood that one lady succumbed to it and had to be taken home in a carriage. The ladies looked cool and comfortable, but they were all affected. But the men. How they howled. Hats, and even coats, were thrown in the air when Thermometer came flying past the wire. He carried every cent of the money of the talent. Mercury rode a careful and skillful race. He kept his mount well in hand, but when they turned for home he gave his steed his head and the old-timer came away from the field as though they had ice in their hoofs. Mercury is a peculiar fellow. His work is never to be depended upon. One day he will be way up and every one pins their fatth on him and then again he is not in it with Pluvius. He always has a coterie of followers who will never desert pension office; James G. Johnston, a clerk of class 4 in the general land office; Edmund S. Woog, financial clerk in the office of Indian affaire; John W. Holcombe, chief clerk in the office of education; Marcus Baker, a topographer in the geological survey; Francis E. mer heat free-for-all are among the best in the country. Mercury will again be up on Thermometer and no doubt will carry a good deal of money. But there may be some surprises. Thunder and Lightning with raincloud in the saddle will be worth watching, and then, too, Gen. Humidity ran a good race yesterday, but it is said that it was only a trial and that he will be out for the stuff today. It is understood that Perspiration will ride him. He is one of the best runners that America has ever pro-duced. The rain last night only laid the dust and the track will, therefore, be in even better

While every one was asleep early this morning Mr. Vulcan, the owner of Thunder and Lightning, gave him a private trial, and he covered the distance in very fast time. He was all out at the finish. Mr. Jupiter Pluvius was not to be outdone, and sent his fast filly Rain along with him. It was a hot race, but Thunder and Lightning lasted the longer.

There was talk yesterday of making the track kite shaped. But with money so tight a kite could not be had and every one was in bad papers for the bureau he represents, and shall be present during every such examination. He had not personally checked the disks of Mars and Venus. He had had it done by an assistant. In the almanac of 1884 he had checked the apogee and perigre of the moon, but had not checked its greatest libration. He was severely catechised on technical themes.

SELLING LIQUOR ON SUNDAY. PARIS IS APATHETIC

Attorney Thomas Disagrees With Judge Kimball's Conclusions.

An Old Ligar License Does Not Authorize illing on Sunday-The DR. MORRISON THE PLAINTIFF.

Mr. S. T. Thomas, the attorney for the Dis-He Makes a Bitter Attack on Prof. rict, was asked by a STAR reporter this afternoon for an opinion or Judge Kimball's de-cision in the Police Court yesterday to the effect that a liquor dealer holding an old license could not be punished for selling liquor on the THE TESTIMONY TODAY.

Mr. Thomas explained that he had not examined the case in which the decision war rendered, but stated that Judge Kimball mus As heretofore stated in The Star, an investigation into the ways and workings of the Nautical Almanac bureau is in progress at the naval observatory. The sessions are being conducted in room A and are presided over by Capt. McNair, U. S. N., superintendent of the observatory. The investigation is the outgrowth of charges preferred before the Secretary of the Navy by Dr. Joseph Morrison rendered, but stated that Judge Kimball must have proceeded on the idea that the Sunday law or the ordinance in regard to the sale of liquor on Sundays had been repealed by the act of March 3, 1893, and that the information perhaps charges the defendant with the violation of some Sunday ordinance. It seemed to him, remarked Mr. Thomas, that if the defendant had simply been charged with selling liquor without a license he should have been convicted. tary of the Navy by Dr. Joseph Morrison

The first section of the same act, further stated About the middle of last February Prof. New-About the middle of last February Prof. Newcomb placed a note upon Dr. Morrison's desk requesting his resignation. That request was not granted. It stated the resignation should be to take effect within a few days.

Prof. Newcomb then reported the case to the Secretary of the Navy with a recommendation that Morrison be dismissed, alleging him to be dismissed, alleging him to be dismissed, alleging him to be dismissed. with a recommendation that Morrison be dismissed, alleging him to be negligent, incompetent and utterly unfitted for the duties required of him. Dr. Morrison was politely furnished with a copy of these recommendations. An interview with the Secretary ensued, and that official unquestionably prohibited both the keeping open on Sunday of a bar room or other place where intoxicating liquor is sold and the sale of such liquor on Sunday.

And that, too, said Mr. Thomas, whether the license operated under was an old license or one granted under the provision of the act of March 3, 1893. view with the Secretary ensued, and that om-cial must have requested that Dr. Morrison furnish the department with a detailed state-ment of his connection with the almanac bureau. Such a paper was prepared and is now on file at the observatory. On its contents the investigation is based. It is a closely written document, covering seventeen pages of

Mr. Thomas said he understood that the case decided yesterday by Judge Kimball was one failing to close his place on Sunday, Vogler having an old license. Those facts, however, he believed, did not alter his conclusions in the thing terrible. They pushed and jostled, and many of them used very severe language. The management came in for the usual abuse, but it was not deserved, as, like the plano player, they are doing the best that they can. Naturally, most of the complaints came for those who had lost their money. Joe Rickey, Sherry Cobbler and Lemonade were heavily played, but they were a disappointment. They made a good run, but in the end there was nothing in them and consequently their backers were soreheaded. Among the ladies Soda was a universal favorite. It is an abrogation of civil service methods and a return to the spoils system under which the Secretary has liberty to promote the spoils system under which the Secretary has liberty to promote the Secretary has liberty to promote which the Secretary

Again, when there came a vacancy in Clinton College, New York, and plaintiff thought that his appointment was assured, defendant, who was summering in the Katskills, went over to sion under the act of June 27, 1890. During number of certificates issued during the fiscal year just closed is but 121,628, it will be seen that 101,309 less certificates have been issued for the fiscal year 1893 than were issued for the fiscal year 1892; and as the loss to the rolls during the past fiscal year, from death and remarriage, &c.. will amount to at least 30,000, it will be seen that the net increase to the rolls during the past fiscal year will be but 91,628, against 199,908, or a difference of 108,280 less increase for the fiscal year 1898.

The members of the council, many of whom, if not actually known as socialists, have leanings in the direction of socialism, are still sulky because of the government's action in regard to the labor exchange, and at the threat to dissolve their body.

ACTIVE ANABCHISTS. The anarchists, with the usual pernicious ac tivity that characterizes them, have taken advantage of the day to post incendiary placards on dead walls and other places about the city.

The police are busy in searching out and destroying these flaming posters.

A number of open-air balls were held last night, but there were no reports of disorder.

The anarchists have made many threats of what they intend to do today, going so far as to say that they would destroy the city with fire.

Two residents of Prince George's county who made purchases of clothing and jewelry were put on the stand as witnesses.

Lawyer Campbell Carrington appeared for the prisoners and said he would reserve his defense for the upper court.

BEADY FOR DISORDER. The authorities are prepared for whateve overt acts they may attempt. The fire brigade and two regiments of troops are held in readi ness to fight fire or the anarchists, and it is the general opinion that the anarchists will confine themselves to threats and bluster.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star

BUZZARD'S BAY, July 14.—President Cleveland drives out behind his slick pair of bays or else tempts a fisherman's, luck on the Ruth every day now and is fast becoming a familiar figure here. While the President was shut up in his house, away from the sight of the public, one man's guess was a good as another's concerning his actual condition. The public seems to have an instinctive suspicion as to the truth of official bulletins. Such statements are not expected to contain a full measure of truth if any good reason exists for holding back essential facts. For the past three or four days he has stirred about as his inclinations moved him. Whether fishing from his boat in the bay or driving in his carriage over the country roads he has given evidence that he is no longer to be regarded as an invalid.

bis carriage over the country roads he has given evidence that he is no longer to be regarded as an invalid.

The summer life of the Clevelands since they took up their residence here has been very retired and quiet. They have come here for rest and recreation, not to engage in social activities. This is their third season in their present summer home, and during that time they have made a practice of exchanging visits with but a single family.

The Jeffersons are the only people lifere who can be said to know the Clevelands well. There are some families at Marion who are on visiting terms with them, but that place is so remote that they see little of one another.

Mr. L. Clark Davis of the Philadelphia Ledger, who has been the President's companion on his fishing and shooting excursions, has a summer place at Marion. The family of Richd Watson Gilder is not now at Marion, which reduces very materially the number of persons who are persons grate at Gray Gables.

The home of the President has been repeatedly described in the newspapers, but the facts concerning its isolation do not seem to have taken lodgment in the public mind. Every person who comes here for the first time is surprised to find that it is four miles have taken lodgment in the public mind. Every person who comes here for the first time is surprised to find that it is four miles away by the carriage road. This bare statement furnishes no idea of direction or location. In a straight line from the depot, Gray Gables is not more than one and a half miles, but the Monument river, which runs between the two points, necessitates a detour to Boone village in search of a highway bridge across. It is not strange, then, that few people anney the President's family by making visits to the place.

It is difficult for a stranger to understand that the President of the United States is in the town. It takes more than the presence of a President of the United States to stir a Cape Codder from his accustomed grooves.

With the President only a mile away, the biggest hotel in this vicinity, the Norcross House at Monument Beach, has not opened its doors for the summer, nor will it open this year. There is not half the interest and excitement here that there was last summer. At that time prominent men visited Mr. Cleveland almost daily to talk with him concerning the management of the campaign or to pay their respects to the leader of the party.

This year the country has obeyed the President's request to let him alone during the period which he has taken for rest and recuperation.

Rudd, alias "Cotton" Rudd, a barber; Charles Gypprecht, alias "See-bright," and Randall F. McGilvary. The two first mentioned prisoners are Washingtonians, while McGilvary is said to be from Atlanta. Stewart is well known in police circles, having been arrested many times for various offences. Rudd's matrimonial troubles introduced him into police circles. Zypprecht, although young in years, has figured in police affairs several times and McGilvary comes here as a stranger.
